Using a problem drawn from an actual case, DRI's Intellectual Property Litigation Seminar will hit the legal high points of patent infringement, trademark and copyright issues, and protecting trade secrets. Invited speakers include in-house counsel from Ford Global Technologies, DuPont, McDonald's, and Schneider Electric, as well as the Honorable Nora Barry Fischer of the United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania. Also speaking will be expert consultants and prominent trial attorneys from across the country, who regularly practice and try intellectual property cases. They will discuss such timely topics as the America Invents Act, DuPont's recent $919 million trade secret verdict, practice before the International Trade Commission, Prometheus and patentability, and insurance issues in settling IP cases.

This year's program sports a new structure—essentially two seminars for the price of one. Simultaneously at the same hotel, business litigation colleagues will be discussing the Class Action Fairness Act, antitrust law, dealer/franchise law, and consumer protection enforcement. Of course, you are welcome to attend any session of either seminar, but your CLE credits will be offered via your IP Litigation Seminar registration. You will be able to network with speakers and attendees at both seminars with common breaks and social events.
