Three Bradley Arant Boulton Cummings Attorneys Elected to Birmingham Bar Association Young Lawyers Section Leadership

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (Dec. 12, 2012) – Bradley Arant Boulton Cummings LLP is pleased to announce that three of the firm’s Birmingham attorneys have been elected to 2013 leadership positions with the Birmingham Bar Association Young Lawyers Section.

Jason R. Bushby, an associate in the firm’s Insurance and Financial Services practice groups, was voted President-Elect after serving on the Executive Committee for 2012. Ryan P. Robichaux, an associate in the firm’s Governmental Affairs and Litigation practice groups, was elected Secretary Treasurer. James (Jay) W. Wright, Jr., an associate in the firm’s Financial Services, Environmental Litigation and General Litigation practice groups, was elected to his second term on the Executive Committee. All three will serve on the Young Lawyers Section for the 2013 Bar Year.

The Young Lawyers Section focuses on providing professional growth and networking opportunities and promoting community service among members, as well as charitable giving. Section members must be licensed Alabama attorneys under age 36 or in their first years of practice.

“We congratulate Jason, Ryan and Jay on their new appointments with the Birmingham Bar Young Lawyers Section,” said Firm Chairman Beau Grenier. “We also applaud their initiative in taking on important industry and community leadership roles.”
