OUR VISION OF SUCCESS: INCLUSION & DIVERSITY STATEMENT

Bradley's success derives from the ingenuity, intelligence, values, skills, and diverse perspectives of our people. At Bradley, maintaining a working environment that is rewarding, respectful, collegial, diverse, and inclusive is one of our core values. Upholding that core value is a source of strength for our firm and is critical to delivering high-quality legal services to our clients. To that end, our objective is to attract, retain, and promote into leadership roles individuals who foster inclusion and reflect the diversity we value. Bradley is committed to a work environment in which our people thrive and reach their full professional potential regardless of age, disability, ethnicity, gender identity and expression, marital status, national origin, parental status, race, religion, sexual orientation, veteran status, and/or socio-economic status.

MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR OF INCLUSION & DIVERSITY

In 2021, we all have had to step outside our comfort zones to make adjustments to our day-to-day lives. This has been true as well in the areas of inclusion and diversity. While our commitment to these efforts has not changed, we have had to modify our approach in these changing times. This has helped expand the reach of our efforts and led to new approaches that I think will improve our results in the future.

One of the major goals that we have been focused on has been firm-wide inclusion and diversity training. While the pandemic forced us to alter our approach by making this training virtual, it did not prevent us from accomplishing this goal in 2021. The board's approval for the time commitment for this training further emphasizes the firm's commitment to diversity as a core value for Bradley. We received overwhelmingly positive feedback from this training and look forward to continuing such efforts in the future.

In terms of recruitment, we were able to return to some in-person events, but we took the lessons learned from 2020 that virtual events do have an ability to grant us access and visibility to candidates outside of our traditional footprint, so we continued what turned out to be a value-added activity. Additionally, I continue to meet with the leadership of the firm and serve on several key committees to ensure that inclusion and diversity remain a focus as we grow and consider opportunities for advancement within the firm.

In 2021, our resource groups have done an outstanding job. Winn (the Women's Resource Group), the Lawyers of Color, and the LGBTQ+ groups have provided events, resources, and a voice for our attorneys. By learning what is important to our lawyers, we hope to include these ideas as we move forward.

We also expanded our participation with the Leadership Council on Legal Diversity (LCLD) this year. In addition to our 2021 LCLD Fellow, Rob Ford, we also selected two LCLD Pathfinders: Kya Henley and Alé Dalton. In terms of advancement, LCLD is designed to increase diversity at the leadership levels of the nation's law firms and corporate legal departments.

These are just a few of the efforts that we have made in 2021 to improve upon our inclusion and diversity efforts. As we learn from our challenges, our lawyers, and our clients, we will continue to improve and grow to fulfill our core value of inclusion and diversity.

INSIGHTS FROM THE INCLUSION & DIVERSITY CO-CHAIR

The programs highlighted in this annual report are the product of thoughtful strategic planning and dedication to implementing that plan. Because our inclusion and diversity strategic plan was the product of focus groups, surveys of our lawyers, and ownership by the top of the firm, the road to success involves all of us. I am particularly grateful this year for the work of our resource groups who have taken the best of virtual programming and paired it with in-person engagement opportunities for their members. They have hosted firm-wide interviews with national leaders in the inclusion and diversity space, planned mentoring activities for our new lawyers, and held recruiting events to seek the next generation of talent. I look forward to seeing these groups continue to flourish in the year ahead.

Our progress toward inclusion and diversity is also made possible by my partner, George Medlock, who serves as our full-time director of Inclusion and Diversity. He is active in firm management, participating as a member on Hiring and Associate committees, presenting to the board regularly, meeting with practice group leaders monthly to review engagement of diverse lawyers, and reporting directly to the chairman of our firm's board. He also helps us partner with clients to learn about best practices and bring those into the firm.

With such deep engagement throughout the firm, I look forward to our continued journey towards a more inclusive and diverse workplace.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

From firmwide inclusion and diversity training to thoughtful and impactful programming and communication, Bradley reinforced its commitment to inclusion and diversity throughout 2021.

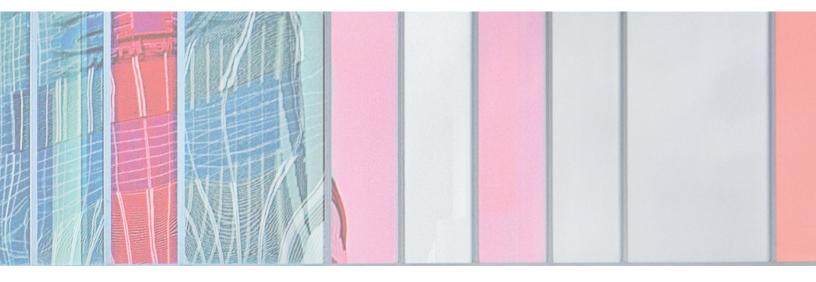

At Bradley, inclusion and diversity are core values and an integral part of the firm's strategic plan. We work daily to foster a culture that embraces differences and everyone's unique story. We understand it is this inclusive environment that yields better decision-making, better client service, and a better workplace where our attorneys and staff can thrive.

I appreciate George, Anne Marie, our committee members, and our resource group chairs for their leadership, support and commitment to our inclusion and diversity goals. Their efforts continue to move us forward as a firm and keep us focused on the future.

We hope you will enjoy this look back at 2021 and can see that Bradley's commitment to inclusion and diversity is not just something we talk about, but something we put into action every day. We are proud of the work we are doing at Bradley and are honored to share our efforts with you.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM BRADLEY'S RESOURCE GROUPS

Bradley's resource groups are designed to provide support to underrepresented minority groups and create a forum for attorneys to connect, support and advocate for one another.

LAWYERS OF COLOR RESOURCE GROUP

Bradley's Lawyers of Color Resource Group is a network for the firm's Black, Hispanic, Asian, and Native American attorneys. The purpose of the group is to promote and support diverse attorneys by fostering and celebrating a community by engaging with one another on a professional and personal level while embracing cultural differences. The group focuses on internal practices, policies and procedures, professional development, and business development, as well as recruiting and retention.

We would like to extend our thanks to Rob Ford and Kristina Reliford for their leadership of the LOCRG in 2020 as they pass the reins to Stephanie Gaston and Alé Dalton.

MESSAGE FROM THE LAWYERS OF COLOR RESOURCE GROUP CHAIR

As current chair of Bradley's Lawyers of Color Resource Group (LOCRG), I am pleased to provide this annual report to the firm on LOCRG's activities this past year, and programs and initiatives we have planned for the near future.

Due to the persisting global pandemic and the fact that our members are dispersed across nine of our 10 offices, we continued with virtual gatherings and internal meetings. In October 2021, following an introduction facilitated by Anne Marie Seibel, co-chair of the Inclusion and Diversity Committee, we co-hosted, along with the Winn Initiative, a panel of lawyers at Cargill, including Effie D. Silva, Global Ethics and Compliance director, Ashley Pinnock, a senior lawyer, and Dadri-Anne Graham, a commercial lawyer, to discuss how to take ownership of your legal career, identify and benefit from mentors and sponsors, work effectively with in-house counsel, and stay meaningfully connected to contacts in order to generate business.

Also in October 2021, in honor of Hispanic Heritage Month, we featured several of our distinguished attorneys and staff members of Hispanic heritage on the firm's website and social media platforms to celebrate Hispanic culture, traditions, and the rich contributions Latinos have made to the nation and to our firm over the years. The participants shared their family histories, what Hispanic Heritage Month means to them personally, and how they celebrate. The featured stories also served to give our attorneys of Hispanic heritage the opportunity to highlight what office they practice in and how they serve Bradley clients to increase opportunities for cross-selling and providing comprehensive legal services to our clients.

In November we sponsored one of our associate members, Judea Davis of Nashville, to attend the ABA Section of Litigation Diverse Trial Lawyers Academy in Boston. This new program for the section walks participants through mocks for all parts of a trial with a real judge on the bench and expert faculty. Judea expressed that the program proved to be an exceptional opportunity for hands-on learning and networking.

In December, we hosted a virtual "Name That Tune" holiday mixer to foster collegiality and connectivity among the members of the group.

We are very proud to have launched Bradley IN COLOR, a new quarterly newsletter for LOCRG members to share wins and successes, participate in a support network, spotlight our diverse attorneys, and share information about networking, community, and business development opportunities. Through this effort, we are working to create a sense of community among our lawyers of color, celebrate wins, and promote belonging and well-being. The first edition was published in November 2021 and the second in February 2022.

Also, in February 2022, we hosted a firmwide CLE event in honor of Black Heritage Month featuring Brandon Byrd, associate professor of History at Vanderbilt, as a guest speaker. Additionally, we featured our Black attorneys on the firm's website and social media platforms as we did in October 2021 for Hispanic Heritage Month.

We have also begun planning an in-person retreat for members in summer or early fall of 2022, depending on the status of COVID-19 cases across the country. If feasible, we will host the retreat in Nashville (where the majority of our members are located) and have a day and a half of programming that will include networking activities with clients, a "state of diversity" at the firm and future efforts discussion, and a practical training session that will be relevant for partners and associates alike.

In November 2022, we are sponsoring a group of members to attend the 29th Annual Texas Minority Counsel Program (TMCP). The TMCP is an excellent networking, CLE, and client development event for all attorneys and is specifically geared toward bolstering business opportunities for those who represent different minority groups. The TMCP also includes a Counsel Connections program, which provides an opportunity to meet face to face with representatives from corporate legal departments who are looking to expand their network of outside counsel. Our members who attend will have an opportunity to meet and interview with in-house counsel who could assign them work in the future.

We are also hoping to do more outreach with Black Law Students Association and Latino/Latina Law Students Association chapters in our respective cities to increase visibility of the firm among diverse law school candidates.

Finally, in conjunction with one of our bimonthly meetings in the spring, in order to further our goal of prioritizing the professional development of LOCRG members, we plan to invite partners who serve on the Associate Committee to present a tutorial to LOCRG members on the importance of self-evaluations and self-advocacy within the firm.

We have mobilized office liaisons in each office where we have LOCRG members to answer questions, encourage regular networking within our respective offices, and encourage members to become involved in local professional bar and industry organizations for business development purposes. Serving as a liaison also serves the dual purpose of developing members as leaders within the firm.

Alé Dalton serves as vice chair of the LOCRG, and she and I are very proud of the progress we have made thus far in our tenure. We are looking forward to continuing to advance our growth and development, as well as the sense of belonging and connectedness of the lawyers of color at Bradley.

LGBTQ+ RESOURCE GROUP

Bradley's LGBTQ+ Resource Group was created to support and foster an equitable and inclusive workplace for all by identifying the unique issues faced by LGBTQ+ attorneys in the workplace. The group focuses on outreach, professional development, and recruiting and retention. The group worked with firm leadership to update policies to address the needs of the LGBTQ+ community and joined the Human Rights Campaign Business Coalition for Equality and the HRC Corporate Equality Index.

MESSAGE FROM THE LGBTQ+ RESOURCE GROUP CHAIR

Bradley's LGBTQ+ Resource Group had a busy year in 2021. In the face of waxing and waning COVID-19 concerns, we doubled down on efforts to effectuate the vision for the resource group: to support the professional growth of its members and to provide an understanding of unique issues facing LGBTQ+ attorneys and the broader LGBTQ+ community. In this vein, we hosted our first firmwide event — a fireside chat with Wesley Bizzell, immediate past president of the National LGBTQ+ Bar and senior assistant general counsel and managing director of Political Law & Ethics Programs for Altria Client Services. The fireside chat had around 100 attorney attendees and was recorded for those who could not join live. Wes discussed complicated issues facing LGBTQ+ lawyers, such as decisions concerning sexual identity openness with clients, what being an effective ally means, and how to productively tackle diversity issues with upper management. The resource group members' leadership in LGBTQ+ issues extends beyond the firm to local and national LGBTQ+ bar organizations and other national diversity organizations.

The legal industry is facing incredible competition in attracting talent. Indeed, we need more talented associates, and we especially need more talented associates who identify as LGBTQ+. Attracting talented LGBTQ+ associates is the lifeblood for our resource group, just as attracting new associate talent is a lifeblood for the firm. In recognition of the increasingly competitive landscape for talent and the desire to communicate outwardly the inclusive, diverse community that is Bradley, we co-hosted two recruiting events with the firm's Recruiting Committee — a Pride party with summer associates and a school-year mixer with Vanderbilt Law's OUTLaw LGBTQ+ student group. We have been successful in helping to attract LGBTQ+ diverse talent to the firm, and we hope to continue and expand these efforts in 2022.

Lastly, we appreciate that our members are not facing LGBTQ+ issues alone and are blessed to have the support of many allies who want to help us accomplish our mission and goals. In recognition of this, we appointed our first resource group ally liaison to help us engage with and leverage our many allies at the firm. We are set to kick off 2022 with our first-ever LGBTQ+ Resource Group Retreat and Strategic Planning Meeting. I am proud of our accomplishments and excited about our path ahead.

THE WINN INITIATIVE

A program committed to supporting women at the firm, Bradley's Winn Initiative was named in honor of late partner Ellene Winn, who in 1957 became the first female partner in a law firm in the Southeast. The program serves as an internal women's career development group to foster and encourage a supportive environment within the firm. The group hosts programs that focus on boosting professional skills, leadership, mentoring and business development.

MESSAGE FROM THE WINN INITIATIVE CHAIR

Bradley's Winn Initiative is a program that exemplifies our commitment to supporting the firm's female attorneys. Bradley's Winn Initiative is a firm-wide program that was created almost two decades ago to serve as an internal career development group promoting leadership among our female lawyers.

The heart of the Winn Initiative has always been focused on mentoring and increasing our attorneys' development in their practices. As Bradley has increased its footprint, we have added Winn liaisons in each of our 10 offices. We instituted a quarterly newsletter to help encourage growth, celebrate achievements, maintain a strong sense of team, and share recent client and career successes, community/pro bono activities, personal announcements or milestones, and reading or podcast recommendations. We also created a Winn library filled with resources to help grow our practices. In addition, the Winn Initiative offers monthly connection opportunities and client events where we have an opportunity to interact with many of our female clients.

In 2021, the Winn Initiative furthered its commitment to both formal and informal mentoring. For example, the Winn Initiative developed an associate-to-associate mentoring program for female associates joining Bradley. The program provided live coaching sessions and additional written materials in order to assist new lawyers as they begin their practice at Bradley. One other way that the Winn Initiative has fostered informal mentoring relationships among its women in 2021 is by offering several connection groups. Groups such as Winn Moms, Winn Reading, Winn Exercise, Winn Foodies, Winn Design, Winn Eldercare and Winn Favorite Things provide avenues to encourage informal mentoring across offices and practice groups.

Further, Bradley's Winn Initiative has been working on rolling out additional programming in 2022, including business development focused small groups, a book club, and an in-person meeting of the Winn liaisons to discuss the Winn Initiative's strategic plan, as well as attendance at the Momentum Leadership Conference, which is focused on providing dynamic programming aimed at advancing women in leadership.

I am most proud of our women, the connection we share, the support fostered by the firm, and the culture we have created.

INTERNAL INITIATIVES & TRAINING

FIRMWIDE INCLUSION & DIVERSITY TRAINING

The Weathers Group facilitated two trainings for Bradley. The first learning session, "The ABLE Leader," was given to the Recruiting Committee, Associate Committee, practice group leaders and board members. The second learning session, "L.E.A.D.," was given to the full firm. These sessions focused on exploring perspectives and building trust. Topics covered included the intersection of diversity, communication, and healthy organizational culture.

ART & STORYTELLING WORKSHOP

In collaboration with the Mississippi Museum of Art's Center for Art and Public Exchange (CAPE), Bradley had the opportunity for 10 attorneys to experience their Art & Storytelling Workshop. This exclusive event gave participants the opportunity to learn about the unique life experiences of other participants; examine their own assumptions, reactions, and evaluations of others' stories; expand their personal boundaries to include others in their comfort zone; and create a culture of inclusion and belonging. Participants looked at a variety of artwork that acted as a springboard for participants to share their own stories about the issues of race, sexual orientation, and other differences that can serve to divide people. This workshop consisted of two 1.5 hour virtual sessions led by Holly Harrison, deputy director of the Mississippi Museum of Art (MMA); Monique Davis, managing director of the Center for Art and Public Exchange (CAPE) and chief equity and inclusion officer for MMA; and Mike Moss, business consultant and strategist.

They are designed to increase diversity at the leadership levels of the nation's law firms and corporate legal departments. With more than 350 members, the LCLD is a national organization made up of general counsel and law firm managing partners who participate in programs designed to attract, inspire, and nurture the talent in society and within the members' organizations, thereby helping a new and more diverse generation of attorneys ascend to positions of leadership.

The LCLD Fellows Program was designed to connect high-potential attorneys from distinguished organizations for a year-long professional development series focused on leadership and relationship building. The program offers unique opportunities to network with and learn from top leaders in the legal field by providing Fellows with exclusive access to virtual training methods and networking opportunities, including class meetings, leadership lunches, accountability partners, and mentoring and alumni networking.
